

i believe that, similar to the three branches of our federal government, the media plays an important role in checking and balancing the actions of our government and of corporations and individuals. we need the media to stay diversified in ownership and in perspective in order to maintain fairness in government and in the marketplace.